I had a pleasure to cooperate with DataDiscovery already twice: in 2013 they built for me a complex on-line Organizer, then in 2014 we asked with my partners for a website for the London Design Show.

Both these projects were delivered on time and in expected specification.
The communication during the development was absolutely exceptional.

The collaboration went so well that we are just about to start together another project - an electronic notebook.

I highly recommend DataDiscovery as a professional company.

With kind regards
